Your tasks

Continental's digital capabilities are growing every day. Our Tires Cloud Practice team is building leading cloud-based IT services for the future that ensure information flows even more smoothly to Continental teams and customers around the world.

The international team operates with an open mind, trust and a healthy sense of humor. If this sounds like you - and if you're love to be at the forefront of cloud solutions - Continental is the perfect match for you.

You will join a young team of dedicated and passionate professionals pushing the frontier of what's possible in cloud technology. As a Cloud Consultant, you'll play a critical role in driving successful cloud adoption throughout Continental, managing our growing cloud environment and supporting a thriving community of cloud developers and users.

In this exciting job you work on the following tasks:

- Consulting on cloud solutions, architectures, and Continental processes to drive successful cloud adoption and transformation initiatives
- Facilitating cloud account lifecycle management across multiple cloud providers while ensuring adherence to Continental's security guidelines
- Managing Continental's cloud community through active engagement, knowledge sharing, and strengthening communication channels between stakeholders
- Supporting the cloud community and infrastructure teams in identifying and implementing necessary platform enhancements
- Driving cost optimization efforts for cloud operations through resource planning, savings plan selection, and continuous improvement
- Leading technology evaluation initiatives through feasibility studies and prototyping to identify optimal infrastructure solutions

Your profile

- Academic degree in computer science, another technical field or an equivalent qualification
- First years of hands-on experience with IaaS/PaaS platforms (AWS or Azure) and designing cloud-based solution architectures
- Proven experience in customer-centric solutions consulting with strong analytical and problem-solving capabilities
- Experience in process definition and implementation within IT service management frameworks
- Technical skills in cloud infrastructure and automation tools, with basic knowledge of software development and scripting (e.g., Terraform, Git, Jenkins) considered an advantage
- Experience working with diverse, remote teams and ability to present
