Customs & Transport Specialist (Fixed-Term contract)

工作职责

As a Customs & Transport Specialist, you will be responsible for:

- Identifying and ensuring compliance with import/export regulatory documentation and process standards set by external entities (e.g., government authorities) and required by the company.
- Classifying products to ensure accurate legal customs tariff classification, including submitting requests for binding tariff information.
- Ensuring efficient, timely, and secure management of transport processes (customs, suppliers, and internal/intercompany logistics).
- Ensuring stable transport processes in accordance with country-specific requirements in coordination with nominated service providers.
- Maintaining and checking shipping notices and transit times with carriers.
- Notifying carriers of delivery changes from suppliers to customers in case of short-term adjustments.
- Executing standard customs clearance procedures.
- Manage transport damage and complaints (e.g., investigating cause, determining liabilities, and coordinating claim settlements).
- Coordinating import and export processes during emergency shipments (e.g., hand-carries, charter flights).
- Supporting first-level escalation by analyzing non-performance issues of service providers (e.g., delivery delays or inaccuracies).
- Monitoring results, maintaining accurate records, and distributing information to relevant business partners (e.g., customs authorities, freight forwarders, internal departments, suppliers, customers).
- Analyzing and improving transport processes using standardized IT systems and tools (e.g., optimizing contracted tariffs and terms for economic efficiency).
- Monitoring freight costs (actual vs. budgeted).
- Analyzing quotes from national and international freight carriers in coordination with central responsible functions.

职位要求

- Bachelor's degree in Logistics, Supply Chain Management, Business Administration, or a related field.
- Two years of relevant work experience.
- Knowledge of customs and carrier-specific tools (regional).
- Familiarity with locally applicable foreign trade regulations and processes (e.g., customs regulations, road weight restrictions, infrastructure requirements).
- Good communication & negotiation skills;
- Proficient in written and spoken English.
- Project management and problem-solving skills.
