

IT Consultant Communication Applications (m/f/diverse) - REF85906F

Your tasks

Are you passionate about driving impactful IT projects and shaping the future of communication applications? We're looking for a proactive and results-oriented IT Consultant to join our team. In this role, you'll take ownership of projects, manage stakeholders with confidence, and ensure the successful implementation of scalable, high-quality solutions.

Your Key Responsibilities

- Drive IT Projects End-to-End: Lead communication application projects with full ownership—from planning to implementation—ensuring timely delivery and alignment with business needs.
- Manage Stakeholders & Vendors: Coordinate internal teams and external partners, keeping communication transparent and focused on results.
- Ensure Scalable Solutions: Align technical standards with business processes to deliver maintainable and future-proof solutions.
- Control Budgets & Resources: Monitor project budgets, forecasts, and procurement processes to ensure financial reliability and efficiency.
- Maintain Operational Excellence: Safeguard service continuity and system stability through structured problem-solving and proactive change management.
- Promote Knowledge Sharing: Foster continuous learning and cross-team collaboration by leveraging lessons learned and staying up to date with industry trends.

Your profile

- University degree in Business Economics, Information Technology, Communications, or a related field
- Several years of professional experience in IT or communication-related roles
- Proven track record in leading complex projects from concept to implementation
- Experience working in global, cross-functional teams
- Passion for innovation, AI and emerging technologies in the field of communication
- Business fluent in English (written & spoken)
- Strong stakeholder management skills and ability to drive topics independently
- High level of initiative, ownership, and solution orientation
- Transparent and effective communicator with a hands-on mindset

Applications from severely handicapped people are welcome.
