

Service Owner HSE & Communications Applications

Vos activités

Job Description

Join our dynamic Information Technology team as Service Owner for HSE & Communications Applications in the Business Applications department. As Service Owner, you consult business departments on the selection of fit-to-purpose IT solutions, being end-to-end accountable for the implementation, optimization, and operation of IT applications for corporate communications as well as health, safety, and environment (HSE) to ensure the efficient, secure, and future-proof use of the systems.

Your key responsibilities are:

- Assume end-to-end accountability for the HSE and communications applications and IT services at hand - from concept to implementation to optimization to operation;
- Represent the central contact point for the HSE and communications departments with respect to all IT needs;
- Establish and run a structured and customer-oriented demand management process;
- Gather and collect IT requirements from the HSE and communications departments;
- Analyze business requirements, translate them into technical requirements, and develop solution concepts;
- Lead and support IT implementation projects in the area of HSE and corporate communications;
- Manage all stakeholders throughout the entire project life cycle, identify and assess risks, seek problem-solving, and perform escalation management;
- Drive technical innovation and (continuous) optimization after Go-Live;
- Ensure that the current and future service requirements of customers are identified, understood, and documented in SLA documents;
- Ensure that service performance reviews are scheduled, regularly carried out with customers, and are documented with agreed actions;
- Manage the budget for the HSE and communications applications assigned; support processes for budget planning, forecasting, and monitoring.
